Pupils' donations help African orphans

CHESELBOURNE First School pupils have donated bundles of toys to African orphans.

They also collected bags of used clothes and boxes of pens, pencils and books to be sent to deprived youngsters in Malawi.

Dr Meg Gray, from Cheselbourne, appealed for the items on behalf of international organisation European Coalition of Positive People.

She said: "The school has been incredibly generous. I have two bin bags each of soft toys and clothes, and three containers of pens and They will be sent out in August. The project aims to provide an oasis for children where they can learn life skills like tailoring and woodwork while living' in the community.

"The toys and clothes will mainly be for the under-fives," she added.
